

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A built-in element for a cooling tower is made of a plastic material and is equipped with an additive with anti-bacterial activity. The additive may be embedded in the plastic material of the built-in element, or may be applied to an exterior of the element.

11633525